Dr. Edward J. Swift, Jr. '79

Dr. Ed Swift received his DMD degree from MUSC and a master's degree in Operative Dentistry from the University of Iowa. He practiced general dentistry for several years, and has taught at the University of Mississippi and the University of Iowa. He is currently Professor and Chair of the Department of Operative Dentistry at the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry.

This lecture will discuss how the development of new materials has proceeded so rapidly that many clinicians are left confused by the wealth of new products that are available in many areas.

This course will present the latest information available on current dentin/enamel adhesives, composite resins, cements and impressions. Finally, the presentation will provide an update and overview of tooth whitening. Although bleaching has become commonplace over the last 15 years, new information and products are constantly available as patient demand continues to increase. The Course is appropriate for general dentists, dental assistants and prosthodontists.
